

Nicodemus

© 2001 Adam Smith

When I was young / I heard a voice / in the temple / speaking wisdom.
It was a boy / 12 years old / with the elders / sitting 'round him.
I was amazed / at his questions / and his answers / that he gave us
After three days / he departed / and we wondered / whose son is this?

And the words I heard back then I hear today.
It was the voice of a man / they called Jesus.
And so I went to him at night and heard him say,
“You must be Born Again.”

There was a time / in your life / you've had the gospel / given to you
About a man / the Lord Jesus / and He's the only one / that's ever loved you
So the Lord / in His goodness / has brought His gospel / with grace to you
And it's by grace / you shall be saved / receive His love / flowing through you

Now the Word has come to you again this way,
So open your heart, and trust in Jesus.
Because the words He said back then are true today,
“You must be born again.”

Do not harden / your heart any longer / as your fathers did
I am knocking / now even stronger / Open your heart and I'll come in.